The Jubilee chorps of adult voices, which is being arranged by Mr. Randall, will be sung on Monday evening the 21st of June, instead of one of the nights of celebration, as originally intended. The change was made in order to not interfere with other parts of the jubilee programme.

J. SHERA, at present in the employ of J. A. McDougall, leaves his position in a couple of weeks to start in business for himself at Fort Saskatchewan in the stand formerly occupied by Ross & Adamson. The firm name will be Shera & Co., and they will open for business on the 15th of June.

A SACRED concert will be given in the Presbyterian church at Fort Saskatchewan on the evening of the 28th of May, by the choir from the Presbyterian church here. A splendid programme of sacred music has been prepared. The first part is composed of instrumental and vocal solos, quartettes, duets and anthems by the choir while the second part consists of the oratorio "Christ and his soldiers."

The jubilee celebration committee have decided to arrange the two days of celebration as follows: The forenoon of the first day will be occupied by processions and parades, which will form at the town hall and march to the grounds where the national anthem will be sung at twelve o'clock. In the afternoon the athletic sports will take place, and the second day will be occupied by horse racing, etc. In the evening of the second day the bicyclists will have a Chinese lantern parade.

The last performance of the Harry Lindley Co. was given on Monday night, when "The Castaways" was played before a large and interested audience. The play is a musical drama and requires considerably more stage room than the company had here, before it could be seen to proper advantage, but notwithstanding these disadvantages the performance was very successful. The scene in the third act of the storm and the sinking ship aroused great applause. The company expect to return here in the fall with new plays.

ANOTHER consignment of Galicians, numbering one hundred and thirty three people, arrived a week ago, and under the chaperonage of immigration agent Sutter, are being rapidly settled on their newly located homesteads. Fourteen families went out with Mr. Sutter to Limestone lake and being surprised and favorably impressed with the prosperous appearance and condition of their countrymen previously located there, ten families, representing sixty five souls, immediately took up homesteads in the vicinity. The other four families were provided with more capital and desired to locate nearer town. All of these later arrivals are in a much better financial condition than those who arrived last year, as each family has several hundred dollars to start with. Another lot of Galicians, numbering seven families, went out to Clearwater with J. Smith to inspect the country, and if satisfactory, locate there. Mr. Sutter has succeeded in getting Mr. McCreary, commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg, to endeavor to have all sections, both odd and even thrown open for entry, and as these foreign arrivals desire to locate near each other, the change, if carried through, will give great satisfaction to them.

ON account of lack of space several articles and items are held until next issue.

THE land agent has been instructed by the department of the interior that the regulations are in force and that he may proceed to grant mining entries. Those persons who have made application, should at once pay their fees and secure certificates. Unless this is done immediately, now that the regulations are in force, it is doubtful if the claims will hold good.

GEO. A. VOYER, the C. P. R. telegraph operator here, while bicycling last night met with an accident, which resulted in his being dislocated his right arm at the elbow. He had ridden his bicycle upon the sidewalk in front of Stovel's hardware store and was preparing to dismount when he lost his balance and fell outward, and being near the edge of the sidewalk, which is raised about two feet from the ground, could not stop himself, but fell to the bottom of the ditch with great force, his arm doubling under him and being put out of joint by the sudden and painful twist.

He was immediately assisted to Dr. McIntyre's surgery and a search instituted after which he was removed to his home and is doing as well as could be expected. CONSIDERABLE excitement was caused in town on Tuesday and Wednesday by the report that Chas. Vollrath and his sixteen year old son had been drowned while en route to Fort Saskatchewan on a raft. The raft was found somewhat damaged, drifting along the shore near the old colonization buildings, and with a portion of their effects still on board, but no sign of the two passengers could be discovered. Word was sent to the police and a search instituted when Vollrath and his son were found at the farmers farm, near Fort Saskatchewan, their raft had stuck on a rock and they had abandoned it leaving their goods on board, and started to walk the remainder of their journey, about 20 miles. With the rising water in the river the raft became free and started on a voyage of its own, and it was during its meanderings down the stream that it was corralled and held as the last grim evidence of a watery tragedy which had the commonplace ending described above.

De Roux vs. Lindow, open.

Taylor vs. Hutchings, open.

A list of the criminal cases to be tried has already been published. The action of theft against Noel Delorme was withdrawn.

The first case to come up for trial was a criminal action against P. McPhee for theft of a horse. The evidence went to prove that McPhee had lost a horse and set a man to hunt it with the result that a horse was found on Miner's Flat, answering to the description of the one lost by McPhee, who took possession of the animal claiming that he thought it was his own. The horse was afterwards claimed by W. McKay, of Edmonton, and handed over to him by McPhee and afterwards claimed by D. Cheviqney, of St. Albert, who in turn demanded it from McKay. Out of these complications arose an action of theft against McPhee and out of the action for theft arose other complications as to the ownership of the horse, and in order to decide that point the judge sent to St. Albert for the iron with which Cheviqney claimed to have made the brand. After hearing the evidence for the prosecution and defence, and the conflicting testimony of the ownership of the animal, which was valued by the witness at from $15 to $25, the judge discharged McPhee and intimated that he considered the horse actually belonged to Cheviqney. The unconscious cause of all the trouble was, therefore, handed over to Cheviqney by McKay, and the case settled at noon on Wednesday. N. D. Beck, Q. C., for prosecution, Wm. Short for prisoner.

POLICE COURT.

On Friday evening last a young man who was laden with liquid exuberance, created a disturbance in Robertson hall and on Monday afternoon at 3 p. m. appeared before G. W. Gairdner, J. P., and was taxed $5 and costs. He appeared to think this was a little too much to pay for a ticket to see Little Lord Fauntleroy and consequently declared that he would turn over another new leaf and the halls of justice should know him no more.

On Saturday, the 15th May, before G. W. Gairdner, J. P., Etienne Belcourt, pleaded guilty to having assaulted Leon Moret, and was fined $5 and costs or thirty days hard labor. The fine was paid.

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, May 13th, '97.
Business of the House is still going slowly. A start has been made in passing the estimates, and no very strong opposition has been developed. In fact, the party of the opposition seems to be in a state of complete disorganization, which the result of the provincial elections on Tuesday has not mended. Nearly all the Quebec members of the House have been absent for the last week or two, taking part in those elections. On Tuesday night, when the result was known, the Hon. Mr. Foster called attention to the fact that the deputy speaker, Mr. Brodeur, had been absent, taking part in the elections, and alluded to his action as scandalous. This was backed up by a motion to abolish the position of deputy speaker, and by still another motion to reduce the salary. As both motions were evidently the outcome of ill-temper, and had nothing whatever to do with the merits of the case, either as regards the usefulness of the office or the qualifications of Mr. Brodeur, they were defeated, a number on the conservative side voting against them. Several liberals voted for the motion to reduce his salary.

The dairy estimates were dealt with last night, and a vote of $15,000, in aid of Northwest creameries, was passed without a word of dissent. The next item of $100,000, to make advances on butter manufactured, $95,000 of which was for the Northwest, provoked a good deal of discussion, but not of opposition, as all parties were agreed that it was right and proper to aid the dairy industries of the West in this way. This is an increase of $40,000 over last year.

The principal interest of the week has centred in the railway committee, where the discussions have been not only warm but red hot. An application for an extension of the charter of the Columbia & Kootenay railway from Nelson to the south end of Kootenay Lake was the cause of a very heated discussion. This company was also applying for authority to build from a point between Nelson and Robson and to the south end of Slokan lake. The building of this latter short line would give through connection from Revelstoke to Nelson, by means of transfer barge on the Upper Arrow lake and Slokan lake. No one objected to this; but as the other extension, from Nelson to the south end of Kootenay lake, covered a part of the route of the projected Crow's Nest Pass railway, it was strongly objected to on the ground that the minister of railways and canals had, in regard to the Alberta Railway & Coal Company's charter, taken the position that no authorities should be granted for building along any part of the Crow's Nest Pass route until the policy of the government in regard to that line was settled. Although the proposition was nominally that of the Columbia & Kootenay Railway Company, it was actually the C. P. R., as announced by Judge Clarke, chief solicitor of that company, who was present. Mr. Blair held the same ground, in regard to the Columbia & Kootenay that he had regarding the Alberta Railway & Coal Company; and even went further, stating that in his opinion, in case of any railroad charter being granted through any part of the mountainous districts of British Columbia, where there might possibly be only room in the Pass for one railway, it was absolutely necessary in the public interest that provision should be made so that other companies might on occasion use the same pass; or, in other words, that no one company should be allowed to monopolize any pass. This met the views of the committee, and while the part of the Columbia & Kootenay charter providing for the extension to Slokan lake was granted, the extension to the south end of Kootenay lake was refused for the time being.

The application of the Calgary & Edmonton railway company for a renewal of the provisions of their charter empowering them to extend to Peace River on the north, and to the international boundary on the south, came up in the railway committee on Tuesday. Mr. Oliver asked that the revival of their powers be made conditional on their extending their present line to the Saskatchewan river on the Mill Flat, and to the town of McLeod within one year. Mr. Osler, on behalf of the company, stated that it would be impossible for the company to make any extension of their line however inexpensive, or however willing they might be to make it, owing to the financial condition of the company. Only a fractional part of the interest on the bonds was being paid, and it was absolutely impossible to raise any more money for extensions; if he could not get the power to extend granted unconditionally he would drop the bill. In reply, it was pointed out that if the company was unable to make any extensions the committee would not be justified in granting them authority to do so. Hon. Mr. Blair, Minister of railways and canals, took strong grounds as to the propriety of protecting the interests of established towns in the Northwest. He considered that the towns of Edmonton and Macleod were entitled to consideration that they had not received; and that it was the duty of a committee to see that fair consideration was extended them. Mr. Lister pointed out that the company had broken faith with parliament in not making their connections with these towns, as was the original understanding. Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Foster supported the claim of the company to the unconditional extension of their charter. When it became evident that this would not be granted by the committee, Mr. Osler stated that all he desired was power to extend to a junction with the Crow's Nest Pass railway. He therefore struck out his application for the other extensions, and again demanded that the right to this extension should be granted unconditionally. This was again opposed, with the result that Sir Charles Tupper moved that the extension be made under the approval of the governor-in-council, which guaranteed to the town of Macleod that their interests will not be ignored if the extension be made while Mr. Blair is minister of railways. Hon. Mr. Foster, Sir Charles Tupper and some of their followers poo-pooed the idea that the pioneer settlers of the country were entitled to any consideration whatever. Mr. Foster was particularly strong in the view that the pioneers were safe in depending on the good will of the railway companies. Had it not been for the pronounced attitude taken by the minister of railways, it is certain that the interests of Macleod would have been entirely ignored; certainly they would have been as far as the influence of Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and Mr. Osler was concerned. The bill should have come up for consideration in committee of the whole House last night but was deferred at the request of Mr. Osler. Ross, MacKenzie and Mann are here lobbying for their interests.

Yesterday's sitting of the House was taken up by a motion of Mr. Davin that agricultural implements and lumber should be made free of duty. The debate was carried on until about ten o'clock at night, when the division took place. Mr. Davin's motion was opposed by a number of the leading conservative members who had no hesitation in declaring themselves protectionists. As the success of his motion, which was strictly a motion of want of confidence in the government, would only mean the weakening at the present tariff-revenue administration, as against the avowedly protectionist opposition, it did not commend itself to the views of the liberal or patron members, and indeed was not taken seriously by the House. It received the support of ten votes; Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Foster being absent from the house, although it was known that the vote was coming on.

It is announced that arrangements have been made for a mail to leave Vancouver, B. C., on May 14th for the Yukon.
Arrangements have been made for the stationing of police at Athabasca Landing, Lesser Slave lake, Grand Rapids, Fort Smith, and possibly Chipewyan for the summer at least. An officer will inspect the posts. Only one or two constables and an interpreter will be at each post.

THE YUKON.

Edmonton, May 14th, '97

EDITOR BULLETIN:

In a late article re the golden west, published lately in your paper, will you allow me to correct some of the statements, and give you what I have seen. I have made the trip to Juneau in nine days; from Juneau to Lynn channel one day more; across the range twenty six miles, two days, and if you have your boats made you can go down to forty mile creek in twelve to sixteen or make the whole trip in, say thirty instead of one hundred days. The only difficult part of the travel is crossing the range of mountains.

As for provisions, they were scarce ten years ago, but to-day there are nine boats plying on the Yukon, making three to four trips each. Provisions are cheap there now, compared with prices paid in other mining camps.

As for gold being there, it is there in immense quantities, and it will be ten years before any impression is made on its riches. The auriferous ground extends over an area of thousands of miles, and the ground being frozen, it will take a long time to work it out. I would not advise any one to go there, unless they are prepared to rough it, and I quite agree with what you published in regard to a man having sound judgment, wind and limb and plenty of energy, industry, money and friends being the one to go there. No doubt, possessing all these attributes he can make a fortune anywhere, but if he only possesses the first three or four, then let him go there. I have now in the Yukon a friend who made a few thousand in '87 and '88 and to-day is worth at least two hundred thousand.

As for the route advocated by the Athabasca & Mackenzie, it is not yet practicable, and I do not think it will be unless roads and portages are made. The only way, and the cheapest and easiest is by way of Victoria and Juneau. The cost of trip and outfit will be about $300. That part of the Northwest will yet be one of the supplying depots for the Edmonton district, provided roads and boats are made and put on the rivers north of us, and probably gold will be found on the east side of the mountains extending to the Mackenzie. So far very little has been prospected and wherever it has, gold has been found in varying quantities.

LOUIS COUTURE.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

The postponed meeting of the management committee of the jubilee celebration was held on Tuesday night in the fire hall, thirteen members being present.

After the routine business was completed communications were read from the respective secretaries of the different school districts in the vicinity, promising to do all in their power to have their pupils assist by joining in the parade and singing the national anthem.

Communications were also read from the secretaries of the St. Jean Baptiste and St. Andrews societies, promising to join in the parade, and from the secretary of the Edmonton bicycle club, stating that with the aid of the other cyclists they would parade on the first day of the celebration and on the evening of the second day give a Chinese lantern parade, and also submitting the following programme to be run under the C. W. A. rules:

One mile novice.
One mile open to riders having learned to ride this season.
One half mile.
One quarter mile three heats.
One mile handicap.
Half mile obstacle.

A letter was also read from the C. P. R. at Winnipeg offering a rate of a return ticket for price of single fare, from Calgary to Edmonton, tickets to be on sale on the 21st of June and good to return until the 29th.

Reports from the different committees etc., were then received, the racing committee reporting with reference to the prize presented by Mr. Langworthy and the several races suggested by him, that they had decided to have the hurdle race, hurdles to be solid, three feet high and one foot of brush on top, in all four feet.

H. Wilson, South Edmonton reported on behalf of the south side band that they would be pleased to play on one of the days of celebration, free of charge.

The secretary of the Clover Bar committee H. W. Edmiston, stated that the settlers in that district had given a purse of $40 for a farmers race, race to be run for half a mile either in heats or dash, owners up; all previous prize winning horses to be barred; race to be open to farmers only.

J. H. Picard for the Edmonton band reported that they were willing to give their services free for first day of celebration but if required to play on second day would ask a remuneration of $30. The offer was accepted.

It was decided to hold all horse races on the second day.

A partially completed subscription list from St. Albert was presented showing a substantial donation from there.

It was also decided to fence the whole of the race track and the secretary was instructed to call for tenders.

The committee also decided to make a charge of 25 cents for all adults entering celebration grounds after 12 o'clock noon on celebration day or the day following, children admitted free first day.

Mr. Wilson reported that South Edmonton would give two prizes for a cowboy race, first prize a $25 saddle, second prize $10 in cash. Race to be half mile and turn post and back.

W. G. Ibbotson, secretary of management committee reported that he had about $400 subscribed to the celebration fund.

Athletic and horse racing programmes were presented though not fully decided upon or arranged yet, but meetings of the different committees were called to straighten same up.

Programmes of the races and sports will be prepared at once and printed in time for distribution by Thursday's mail, 27th inst.

The following committee meetings were called; to-night (Thursday) horse racing committee to arrange programmes.

Saturday at 2 o'clock athletic committee to arrange programme of athletic events. All committee meetings will be held in Queen's hotel sample room.

"THE BULLETIN."

EDMONTON, KOOTENAY AND CARIBOO.

Re dredge: The endless chain with bucket or elevator type of dredge cannot be used with advantage on account of boulders frequently met with. A single scoop dredge—being a scoop on the end of a spar—lifting say one yard of dirt, would be preferable. This scoop can be guided by hand so as to avoid boulders and consequently breakage. This could with advantage be placed on a flat bottomed stern wheel steamboat small enough to work in any part of the river. The steam power could be utilized both for propelling the boat and working the dredge. There is any amount of coal and wood for fuel.

Mr. George Wilkins says that starting from about 35 miles above the Jasper House there is a bed of gold bearing quartz that runs for several miles up the Miette river. This quartz has been assayed and shown to carry about $8 to the ton. This bed of quartz is practically inexhaustible. The bed rock of the country there is granite. Further into the Cariboo district at Tete Jaune Cache two or three mica mines have already been discovered, and one is now being worked by J. T. Smith, of Kamloops, who took out 1,500 pounds of muscovite last year, some of which was 12x30 inches. Last year a very fine specimen of the oriental topaz was discovered on one of the creeks running into the Fraser river, and beryl has been discovered at the Tete Jaune Cache mica mine. Granite is also the bed rock of the country there. Placer gold in materially paying quantities is found right along from Tete Jaune Cache to Barkerville. The gold range being heavily timbered with cedar and fir has prevented any thorough prospect of this district being made.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS.

Part E of the annual report of the geological survey of Canada, pages 151 and 152, contains the following by Mr. J. B. Tyrrell, B. A., F. G. S.

Gold, in the form of fine particles, is found in the beds of all the principal streams throughout this area (Northern Alberta), but especially in the North Saskatchewan, where, after the high water of the early part of the summer has subsided it is washed out to a considerable extent. The years in which the water is highest are those in which the miners have made the best wages, the reason being simply that in those years the largest amount of clay and sand, either from the boulder clay or the Edmonton series, is washed down from the banks into the stream and broken up and separated by the water, the clay being carried furthest east to settle in the quieter parts of the river, while the gold is deposited with the sand and alluvial gravel on bars that cross the bottom of the channel, and which are usually left uncovered in low water. It is a common error to suppose that, as gold is very heavy, the most of it will settle in the deepest parts of the bed of the stream, and that only a small portion will remain higher up on the bars. This would doubtless be the case if the nuggets were of considerable size, but in the present instance the particles are exceedingly minute, with very irregular surfaces, and easily held suspended in water for a very long time. It will, therefore, be only in the eddies and quieter parts of the stream, the very places where sand and gravel bars are being formed, that these particles of gold will settle to the bottom. In low water, the river is confined almost entirely between banks of alluvial deposits which are not being washed away to any great extent, so that there is very little gold then carried out into the stream, but what is carried out into it, on account of the quieter state of the water, sinks to the deepest parts of the channel; however, the amount moved at this time must be small in comparison with that carried down in high water, almost all of which is deposited on the bars.

CHAPTER II.
GOLD MINING FROM 1896 TO 1897.
Whilst it had been the opinion of many that the primitive appliances of the pick, shovel and grizzly miner failed to save most of the gold, the great loss going on was not brought to public notice until recently when it was reported that by tests made of samples sent to Omaha it had been discovered that the loss was in the neighborhood of ninety per cent., and that an astonishingly large value of gold and platinum resided in the black sand.
In order to verify these reports and establish an unquestionable authority on the value of the ore I have had assays made by Mr. W. Pellow-Harvey, F. C. S., Vancouver, one of the leading mining experts on the continent.
The first samples sent to Mr. Harvey were taken from a flat under-drift where miners have been drifting during the winter for many years, and which is probably a fair average sample of the bottom lands of the valley. The section of this ground is (1st) 20 feet surface and subsoil, assaying 50 cents per ton.
(2nd) 9 inches hard-pan, assaying nil.
(3rd) 3 1/2 feet of gravel "pay streak," assaying $2.50 per ton.
Out of the number three "pay streak" a sample of the sand remaining in the pan after all the gold, salvage by the usual local process of amalgamation with quicksilver, had been extracted from it, yielded by assay the phenomenal value of $268.50 per ton in gold and platinum (11 ounces 2 dwt. gold @ $30 per ounce; and 3 ounces 2 dwt. platinum @ $15 per ounce). The miner working pay streak number three was making $1.50 per day when handling an amount of sand and gravel estimated at six tons. That is to say, out of a possible $15 he was only saving one-tenth, which agrees with the results obtained in Omaha pretty nearly.

As the result of personal experiment I had observed that much of the gold and black sand is in so minute a state as to be held in suspension in water for a long time after agitation and to actually float on the surface. From this it appeared that water dashed or sluiced on the auriferous gravel in the manner customary in grizzly and every kind of dredge mining hitherto in use here, must carry off the suspended and floating gold and fine "black sand" leaving only the very heaviest particles and those at the very bottom of the stream of water a chance of being caught on either blanket or amalgam plate; all of which pointed to the likelihood that the cyanide or some other chemical or dry process must be adopted to extract the full value from the ore. A test was accordingly made of the cyanide process by Mr. Harvey, on gravel from pay streak number three, which was quoted above assaying $2.50 per ton in gold. The tests were made on the material after it had been passed through a coarse sieve to get rid of the large stones. The portion which passed through the sieve gave an assay of a little over $4 to the ton. The results in Mr. Harvey's own words were as follows:

"Cyanide consumption. The cyanide consumed by this material was 2 lbs. per ton of ore, but it would be considerably less on a large scale.
"Percolation Test, No. 1. On 1 lb. of ore (consisting of crushed pebbles and sand 1 C.), 5% cyanide. Treatment for three days. Assay of solution after treatment, 3 dwt., 21 grs. per ton (gold). Assay of tailings, after treatment, 0 dwt., 12 grs., per ton (gold). Which is equal to an extraction of 87%.

"Percolation Test, No. 2. On 1 lb. of ore (consisting of uncrushed sand 1 C.), 5% cyanide. Treatment three days. Assay of solution, after treatment, 4 dwt., 5 grs., per ton (gold). Assay of tailings, after treatment, traces, per ton (gold). This extraction is practically complete.
"From the above tests it is evident that practically the whole of the gold in this black sand may be extracted by cyanide. I should estimate the cost of such treatment would not exceed $1.25 per ton of material. To this you must add your estimated cost of getting your sand into the vats." Mr. Harvey is the Canadian agent of the Cassel Gold Extracting Company, limited, of Glasgow.

Two other assays were also obtained by me from Mr. Harvey. One of which was of sand (from the same locality as first samples), washed out of the tailings which pass over the blanket of the sluice box and are never caught or panned out. The material had three times been washed and subjected to the loss of all the value contained in the turbid water; it consisted of about 75 per cent. grey (quartz) sand and 25 per cent. "black sand"; and assayed $49 in gold with traces of platinum. The other assay was of concentrated and pure black sand obtained from Mr. Frank Osborne, of Edmonton. Mr. Osborne informed me that he had carefully washed away all the "grey" sand from this concentrate and thereafter blown all the lighter dross out of it; by which process he had also saved $16 worth of gold from it, leaving some visible gold to be removed by amalgamation from the remaining intensely black "sand." I quote Mr. Harvey's assay "Sample Black Sand." This sample, which weighed 74oz. "troy," gave by amalgamation 35.95 grains of gold. This would correspond to a value of $6035 per ton of sand. The residue from amalgamation on assay gave 302s. 13 dwt. per ton of platinum and traces of gold only. The value of this platinum per ton of sand would be about $54. From the tests which I have carried out on these samples of tailings and "black sand" it is evident that practically the whole of gold contained in them may be recovered by the ordinary process of amalgamation. With regard to the fine sand washed away the cost of treating such material by cyanide would be about $1.25 per ton, if worked on a large scale, so that the question would be whether the sand be rich enough to bear the cost of such treatment.

I was also informed by Mr. Harvey that there was no metal of greater value than gold and platinum in the samples submitted to him, except it might be tin. Through the kindness of Mr. T. A. Stephen, of Rossland, who wished a complete analysis, I am enabled to quote an assay of black sand obtained by him from Messrs. Clarke & Ordway, of Rossland. The sample was taken by Mr. Stephen from tailings of a grizzly working on the same flat off which my first sample sent Mr. Harvey was obtained. This assay showed a value of $325 per ton in gold, silver, platinum and iridium, with traces of rarer metals.

An assay which has been procured from Mr. Thomas Heys, of the Ontario school of chemistry and pharmacy, by Mr. W. S. Edmiston, of Edmonton, who has kindly given it me, confirms the previous assays in showing that the ordinary pay gravel contains a value of $2.40 per ton in gold alone. A 74% concentrate of this gravel gave a value of $24.10 per ton. Regarding this Mr. Heys says: "In my opinion the results obtained are very satisfactory. By a good system of washing and concentrating they would yield rich results. It would appear the deposit is a very rich one, and the facilities for working and concentrating are exceedingly favorable."

In further proof of the value of the tailings, Messrs. Brindley & Jenner, of Edmonton, and an Omaha gentleman informed me that the heavy sand obtained from the tailings had on assay shown a value of $260 per ton, thus confirming Mr. Harvey's similar assay.

The proportion of concentrated "black sand" contained in the gravel is not uniform, results of from three-quarters of one per cent., to one and three-quarter per cent. having been obtained. In actual working with the ordinary grizzly, however, only a small proportion of the black sand is saved; one test, in which a miner saved 25 lbs. of it out of 10 tons of pay dirt in one day, gives only 1/4th of one per cent. In passing it may be remarked that were this man able to sell the sand at even five cents per pound, his earnings would be increased by 50 per cent. Should the black sand be found to be generally of even that value and a local market be established for its purchase, the production would become enormous owing to the miners saving what they have hitherto thrown away in gold washing, and also owing to the existence of an abundant supply of black sand in bars of the river which are not worked now because the quantity of visible gold in them is small.

Jas. Walters received by last Thursday's train a registered shorthorn bull, which he had bought of J. & R. Mc-

Queen, of Elora, Ont., one of the best breeders of the Dominion. He is an extra fine animal and suitable in every way to head Mr. Walters' herd of registered shorthorns. He arrived in excellent condition.

WETASKIWIN.

Farmers are about finished seeding here except barley. Early sown wheat is up in places 4 to 6 inches high, later sown only up in patches. Gardens need rain.

Mr. John West returned on Friday from his trip south and reports having had a good time, he visited all places as far south as Innisfail, and reports that trade is very good but Mr. West thought no place looked half so much like business as Wetaskiwin.

Mr. Marker is in town looking after the creamery business. He made a trip to Duhamel on Saturday.

Our creamery is nearly completed and we are now awaiting the machinery. The new well is a great success, a bountiful supply of bright sparkling soft water having been secured.

Boyes Wetaskiwin menagerie is rapidly growing, and promises soon to become a centre of interest to local naturalists. At present it consists of two bear cubs, one white rabbit, a marmot and a coyote.

Our new Presbyterian minister, Mr. Woods, preached yesterday morning and in the evening in the Methodist church Rev. Mr. German conducted service.

A correction of a statement in a late issue respecting the requirements and advantages of the country. As regards this town, we have a good drug store, in the experienced hands of Mr. Walker, but we certainly need here a doctor, who could make his charges moderate, or we shall have more of the christian scientist and faith healing craze. There is no medical man within ten miles of the town, Dr. Sharp having gone to Lacombe.

Our creamery is nearly finished. The government inspector tells me it is the finest building along the line. Good, and plenty of soft water found at 120 feet depth.

Mr. McCallum has gone to the Battleford ranch to purchase cows.

The Sunday school is now held in the Episcopal church.

We are indebted to Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Deitrich, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Chandler for five new immigrants, whose language is, however, only partially understood at present.

Signs of improvement in social life are apparent, and local authorities are cleaning the town, and removing its open hay mounds, a source of great danger hitherto. Our new Mounted Policeman, Mr. Keays, seems to act with great vigor and impartiality.

It is a singular fact that so many of our people send to Toronto for their goods, paying heavy freight charges, rather than buy in their own neighborhood. So much money goes out of the country which might circulate in it, with a little more enterprise and attention to the requirements of the public on the part of the store keepers.

Mr. Hazlewood and family, eight in number, arrived from England and located at the south end of Battle lake. Mr. Phillips also arrived from England, and located at lawyer Lisle's farm, six miles south. It is affirmed by the immigrant agent that we are to receive two English farmers this year.
